

NYPD stop-and-frisk numbers lowest since decade

On first sight, the NYPD seems to have responded to the criticism about its stop-and-frisk practice, as the number of total stops per year drops steadily since 2011. However, further analysis shows, how this is only half of the story.

